

Music That Moves the Passions:
18th Century Harpsichord Music with Dr. Joyce Chen
A Recital Followed by Hands-on Time for Teachers & Students!
Saturday, September 14, 2024, 2pm
Reed College, Portland - Performing Arts Building - Room 320 – Map

Dr. Joyce Chen, Assistant Professor of Historical Keyboards at the University of Oregon, presents an exciting recital of 18th century harpsichord music, featuring works by Joseph-Nicolas-Pancrace Royer, JS Bach, Marianna Martines, and more!

Piano students and teachers are always welcome at WEKA events. It's a wonderful way to introduce students to the instruments known and loved by Bach, Handel, Scarlatti, and other Baroque composers. The recital will be followed by time for hands-on exploration of the instrument for anyone in the audience who wishes. Three harpsichords from the Reed College Early Keyboard Collection will be available for you to try! A harpsichord builder as well as additional harpsichordists will be on hand to answer questions and provide guidance. Welcome!

Admission Payable at the Door with Cash or Check

- Free to Students - 18 & under, and college students with ID
Children must be accompanied by an adult
- General Admission $25
- Discounted OMTA/WSMTA Admission $20 - to member teachers, your adult students, and parents of your young students. Mention this flyer to get the discount!

Directions - The Reed College Performing Arts Building is next to the free West Parking Lot on SE 28th Avenue between SE Botsford Drive to the north and SE Woodstock Boulevard to the south.

*For more about this event and to subscribe to our newsletter,
Visit www.wekaweb.org*